

Quaker Arts Network Data Protection policy

The Quaker Arts Network holds data on individuals for the purpose of communications and running the organisation's activities. Data may include email and other contact details, information about artistic interests, relevant skills and experience, Quaker membership, and practical information relating to events.

This information is used for Quaker Arts Network purposes only.

Contact information will not be passed to a third party unless specifically requested by the person whose contact details are concerned.

April 2018